

SchoolChapters Inc. Announces New Collaboration Tool for Blackboard Learn

West Hartford, Conn.—January 31, 2012 ---SchoolChapters Inc. today announced the launch of a College-Pro B Edition, a new collaboration tool for the Blackboard Learn™ platform.

SchoolChapters' College-Pro B edition allows Blackboard Learn users worldwide to access the SchoolChapters site through a single sign-on within Blackboard Learn. With one-click access, clients of both SchoolChapters and Blackboard Inc. can easily access information in both systems simultaneously.

“SchoolChapters is committed to developing new and better ways for education professionals to streamline processes, and the latest integration with Blackboard is yet another step in the right direction,” said Claudia Reuter, CEO of SchoolChapters Inc. “We are thrilled to offer the SchoolChapters College-Pro B edition to clients.”

SchoolChapters' College-Pro B edition allows SchoolChapters College-Pro clients to access all of the existing functionality currently in SchoolChapters College-Pro directly within the Blackboard Learn platform. The new extension is free to College-Pro clients and support is available to install and maintain it. The latest development will encourage future education practitioners to align evidence to standards with intentional teaching, while providing instructors with even better resources to track student progress.

“Our partner and developer programs drive tremendous value for clients by enabling access to hundreds of pre-built extensions that help them get more value out of their learning platforms,” said Ted Hopper, vice president of business development at Blackboard. “This unique, vibrant community of development makes it easy for institutions to customize their systems and gives them great flexibility in how they improve and shape the education experience.”

As a member in the Blackboard Partnerships™ Program, SchoolChapters Inc. is also part of the Blackboard Developers Network™, an innovative community of technical experts with a passion for using technology to enhance teaching and learning. Within the Network, developers from schools, colleges, universities, associations, government organizations and companies are developing software and applications—Blackboard Building Blocks™ —that extend and enhance the Blackboard learning environment.
